

ARTS CALL FOR DARFUR

Arts Call For Darfur is an ongoing project aimed at raising money both for Darfur and for the arts in Wales. Some of Wales's finest artists have come together and donated original pieces of their art to the project.

Throughout December we will be displaying the original pieces and selling limited edition signed prints of the work to raise funds for Darfur. Businesses will also have the opportunity to commission an artist of their choice to produce original art work for their business, again to produce funds for the charity work. The exhibition continues until 20 January 2008.

Save The Children are ensuring that funds are put to good use for the long term development of aid to the region hard hit by decades of civil war.

An Invitation

Friday 14 December 2007

2-6pm

Butetown History & Arts Centre

We welcome private individuals and businesses to join us as we try to make a difference to the lives of the people of Darfur.

The event will open with a number of discussions and activities relating to the project. There will of course be plenty of opportunity to view the exhibited art works, purchase limited edition prints of work and speak to the artists and organisers involved.

Speakers include:

David Alston, Arts Director Arts Council of Wales

Keith Towler, Programme Director Save the Children Wales

Paul Hurley, Arts Call For Darfur Focus Group
